Thoughts about my subject:

I love reading! Books have the power to teach us new things, transport us to different worlds and allow us new experiences without even leaving our chair! This half term, I have visited your reading lessons and loved seeing your enthusiasm and love of reading across the school. It has been a pleasure to watch some of our older pupils take on the role of reading buddies and spread their love of reading to our younger pupils.

When I have visited your lessons I have loved...

- Seeing the way you enthusiastically take part in your reading lessons.
- Hearing you reading out loud with confidence.
- Listening to you talk about what you are reading.
- Seeing you helping and supporting each other to get better at reading.

I love books because it's amazing how the shapes called letters can transport you to a different universe.

I love books because they're really interesting and they make me feel more relaxed.

I love books because they're fun and you get to learn. The more you read, the bigger the books you read and the more you know.
